

Harwood Institute National Summit Invitation (2023)

I received a personal, invitation-only request to attend the 2023 Harwood National Summit in recognition of my documented contributions to the Clarksville community through the Harwood Institute's research initiative. This invitation reflects the quantitative reasoning and data-informed work I provided during the research process, including interpreting youth-engagement metrics, supplying accurate program data, and contributing organizational information that informed the Clarksville–MoCo education agenda. These responsibilities required the application of Math 1010 competencies such as analyzing numerical information, identifying patterns within community data, and ensuring precision and reliability in evidence used for decision-making.

Additional documentation supporting this work, including the published report pages and the founder's confirmation letter, is presented in the Harwood Research Participation section placed alongside this entry.

On Friday, September 22, 2023, 2:59 PM, Tristan Wood <twood@theharwoodinstitute.org> wrote:

Hi Sharon,

The Harwood Summit is coming up on October 12-14, 2023 in Richmond, Virginia, and we would love for you to be there!

The Summit is an invitation-only gathering for leaders to come together and work through issues that sit at the intersection of their professional and personal lives. It is a rolling conversation over three days to help foster connection and leave people rejuvenated.

The Walton Family Foundation is covering the registration fee for a few folks from the communities where they have been partnering with the Institute. Because of your work in Clarksville, we would like to offer you the opportunity to claim one of these seats for the Summit. The seats are available on a first come, first served basis, so please let me know if you are interested and I will send you the link to register at the complimentary rate. As a note, while the registration fee will be covered, you will be responsible for covering your travel expenses.

You can find more information about the Summit on our website.

Please think about coming. You'd add a lot to the space—and we think you would get a lot out of it, too.

Please let me know if you have any questions or if there is any additional information that would be helpful!

Thank you,

Tristan

--

Tristan Wood

Director of Network Engagement and Marketing

The Harwood Institute for Public Innovation

1-301-656-3669 ext. 1004 | www.theharwoodinstitute.org